

FBI arrests CIA official in document leak of Israeli military plans against Iran

Nov. 13 (UPI) — CIA official Asif W. Rahman was arrested by the FBI Tuesday in Cambodia on two counts of violating the Espionage Act in classified documents leaks about Israeli military plans. He will appear Thursday in a Guam court.

According to the New York Times, citing court documents and a source familiar, Rahman faces two counts of willful retention and transmission of national defense information.

He worked for the CIA abroad and had a top-secret clearance that gave him access to classified documents.
