

Iran threatens Israel after strike on military complex in Isfahan

Iran on Thursday threatened to retaliate against Israel over a weekend drone attack on an Iranian military factory that has been attributed to the Israeli government.

In a letter to the UN Security Council, Iran said it had thwarted the three-drone Saturday night strike on a complex in the city of Isfahan by intercepting two of the drones, and that Israel was responsible for the attack.

Details about the strike were murky. But no deaths were reported.

Iran's three-page letter, signed by Ambassador Amir Saeid Iravani, said Israel "must be held accountable for all criminal and terrorist acts committed against Iran and face the consequences."

"The Islamic Republic of Iran reserves its legitimate and inherent right," said the letter, "to defend its national security and respond resolutely to any threats or wrongful actions by the Israeli regime, wherever and whenever deemed necessary."
