

Poland gets $4 billion US loan for defence purchases, minister says

WARSAW, Dec 5 (Reuters) – Poland signed a $4 billion loan under the United States’ Foreign Military Financing program that will help finance the transformation of its armed forces, the Polish defence minister said on Thursday.

“This is another proof of enormous trust and strong alliance between Poland and the United States of America,” Wladyslaw Kosiniak-Kamysz posted on X.

Kosiniak-Kamysz said that in total the United States has provided Poland with over $11 billion to finance armament programs, including Patriot air defence systems and Apache helicopters.
