

Prince Harry accepts payout in excess of £10m and a full apology from Sun publisher after six-year legal battle over claims of unlawful information gathering

Prince Harry today accepted a 'substantial' payout from The Sun's publisher which said sorry to him and his mother Princess Diana for intruding into their private lives.

News Group Newspapers (NGN) offered an 'unreserved apology' to the Duke of Sussex for using private investigators to snoop on him.

It is understood Harry's payout is in excess of £10million, but he will have to use the 'majority' of this sum to pay his lawyers' fees.
